Multiple Groups Write to Biden on Behalf of Women and Girls

Arlington, Virginia – Today, Pro-Family Women, the Ethics and Public Policy Center’s Catholic Women’s Forum, and Concerned Women for America, concerned about the health and safety of our nation’s women and girls, sent a letter to President Biden urging the President to “take a closer look at the tragic consequences wrought through policies that conflate the universally understood meaning of biological sex to include the social conventions referred to as ‘gender.’”

The letter highlighted the “disturbing trend” that has come to light in which “adolescent girls, who have never shown evidence of thinking that they are ‘in the wrong body’ prior to puberty, become convinced that whatever discomfort they are feeling can be resolved if they only were to present as a different sex.”

It emphasized the number of nations that are “putting the breaks on this discomfort to ‘transition’ pipeline,” and urged the President to “look at the growing number of girls who tell of years lost to trying to solve their personal distress by impersonating a different identity. . . .”

The letter ends with a plea to the President “to take a stand for truth by abandoning these detrimental policies and use your bully pulpit to protect women and girls as well as to encourage them to cherish their female sex and to live their lives with their bodies fully intact.”
